Richland County Appreciates Assistance from State Departments

Emergency Management Director, Darin Gudgeon, announced that Richland County would like to thank the State of Wisconsin for their aid during the recent flood, including the response from the DNR Wardens, DNR Forestry and Fire Services, the Department of Corrections, and Wisconsin Emergency Management. Without their continued support and expertise, Richland County would not have had such a quick response to those in need. These State Departments continue to offer support during this time of clean up and recovery. Richland County also appreciates the support received from the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

Richland County Emergency Management Director, Darin Gudgeon, stated “we can’t say enough about our county and local responders. They have proven that we are ready and capable of handling these kinds of disasters when then occur.”
